No kid knows more about zoo life than Whit. That's because he sleeps, eats and even attends home-school at the Meadowbrook Zoo. It's one of the perks of having a mother who's the zoo director and a father who's the head elephant keeper. Now that he's eleven, Whit feels trapped by the rules and routine of zoo life. With so many exotic animals, it's easy to get overlooked. But when Whit notices a mysterious girl who visits every day to draw the birds, suddenly the zoo becomes much more interesting. Who is the Bird Girl? And why does she come by herself to the zoo?

Determined to gain her trust, Whit takes the Bird Girl on his own personal tour of the zoo. He shows her his favorite animals and what happens with them behind the scenes. For Whit, having a friend his own age that he can talk to is an exciting new experience. For Stella the Bird Girl, the zoo and Whit are a necessary escape from her chaotic home life. Together they take risks in order to determine where it is they each belong. But when Stella asks Whit for an important and potentially dangerous favor, Whit discovers how complicated friendship and freedom-- can be.

As a student exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library or even make summary for some guide, they are complained. Just very little students that has reading's heart and soul or real their leisure activity. They just do what the professor want, like asked to the library. They go to at this time there but nothing reading really. Any students feel that reading through is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is to be complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever you want. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this Don't Feed the Boy can make you really feel more interested to read.
